Questions:

1. Question: Section 1.9, III requires an office in Duval, Nassau, Clay and/or St. Johns. Does an office need to be currently established or can it be established once the contract is awarded.

Answer: An office does not need to be existing but will need to be established in a timely manner once the contract is awarded and executed.

2. Question: In the below specification 2. (A) and 2. (B) does our company need to be certified in both (a) Geutebruck and (b) Genetec or either supplier?

- a. The contractor company must have a current status as Geutebruck Security, Inc. (GSI) authorized dealer. Vendor must provide a copy of an electronic message, or letter, from Geutebruck Security, Inc. (GSI) identifying current status as an authorized dealer.
- b. The contractor company must have a current status as a Genetec Inc. authorized dealer. Vendor must provide a copy of an electronic message, or letter, from Genetec Inc. identifying current status as an authorized dealer.

Answer: JEA requires a Geutebruck certified contractor. A reasonable effort should be made to obtain a Genetec certification or dealer agreement with the manufacturer upon award of the contract.
